The Cierlous Fourth in California

From a privte letter to Mrs. N. Perkine from her niece, Miss Mary Leslie Pulliam, of Susangula, Calif., we are permitted to take the following: "You know in North Carolina we think we pull off a big one on the Fourth of July, but you ought to see the one they pull of hee. They began here the 3rd of July, and are having a five days celebration, and every day is as big as the preceding one. Today, Sunday, they are celebrating bigger than ever. Yesterday, papa, Robert and I went to the ball game, as it was on a week day. There were one hundred automobiles lined up, with people in them, besides those on the grand stand, who were watching the game, and after it was over, they brought in some wild horses that had never been handled, and they were suddled and ridden by cow boys. They had to throw them down and roll them into the saddles to get the saddles on, and when the cow-boy would at last get on, the horse would stick his head between his legs, bow his back and jump into the air about ten feet, and light just as hard as he could, They called it "bucking." I never did see such wild horses. It was a show to me. I had heard of bucking borses, but had never horse and ridere to keep the m from rouning into the auto's, the fence and grand stand. Then, last night, the band played and gained 15 pounds in weight that I the people danced right out in the street."
